

Wouter van Atteveldt

Wouter van Atteveldt wrote his PhD thesis on Semantic Network Analysis in an interdisciplinary program at the departments of Artificial Intelligence and Communication Science at the VU University Amsterdam (the Netherlands). Currently, he is employed as Post-Doc researcher at the same university, where he enhances the AmCAT infrastructure for automatic content analysis and Semantic Network Analysis and studies the relation between media content and democratic viability. He is also the co-founder of LJS Media Research, a company specialized in media research using advanced content analysis techniques.