AREAS OF INTEREST | EXPERTISE

I work at the intersection of socio-cultural anthropology and archaeology. My interdisciplinary research explores socio-political organization of non-state societies in Aegean and Anatolian prehistory from socio-cultural anthropological perspectives. Based on a qualitative, controlled comparison of archaeological and ethnographic material, I seek to uncover shared patterns and draw new insights into prehistoric social organization. My research interests comprise household and socio-political organization, kinship, gender, and cross-cultural perspectives.

EDUCATION

- Ph.D. Department for Social and Cultural Anthropology, University of Vienna, Austria, 2021. Thesis Title: Households at the dawn of the Bronze Age: Anthropological contextualizations of local social organization within the Aegean basin. Adviser: Prof. Dr. Andre Gingrich.
- M.A. Department for Social and Cultural Anthropology, University of Vienna, Austria, 2015.
- B.A. Department for Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia, 2012.
