

JESH – Joint Excellence in Science and Humanities

Call for Applications INCOMING or OUTGOING

Deadline: July 15, 2016

Within its Joint Excellence in Science and Humanities (JESH) program, the Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW) solicits proposals for the support of collaborative research projects that reflect novel ideas that are not currently being pursued.

Purpose	JESH is a stimulation program of the OeAW offering scientists from selected countries the opportunity to establish new international contacts at the highest level without any restrictions concerning research fields. The purpose of JESH is to foster collaborative research focused on highly innovative ideas by junior scientists for which no standard funding stream is available. We do not expect all JESH projects to succeed, because these should be projects that have high risk, but we are very interested in proposals which, if successful, could have a significant payoff in terms of advancing our knowledge. A further goal is to support work that has the potential, if the initial work is successful, in enabling subsequent funding from other agencies, for example but not limited to the ERC.
Who can participate?	JESH is open to scientists who completed their PhD / doctoral degree within the last 10 years and have a residence and an affiliation with a research institution in their home country. There is no restriction regarding the nationality of the participant. Only one application per person can be accepted. JESH Incoming: Scientists from selected countries (see below) are invited to apply for a research stay at a research institution in Austria. JESH Outgoing: Scientists from Austria are invited to apply for a research stay at a research institution in one of the selected countries (see below).
