Three Empires and Persian Historiography: The Thought of Muṣliḥ al-Dīn Lārī

Routledge (Taylor & Francis), 2025

Nominated by Routledge for the Morris D. Forkosch Prize for the Best First Book in Intellectual History

About the Book

Three Empires and Persian Historiography: The Thought of Muṣliḥ al-Dīn Lārī examines the historical vision of a sixteenth-century scholar whose intellectual life spanned the Safavid, Timurid, and Ottoman worlds. Centered on his universal chronicle, Mir'ātu'l-Advār wa Mirqātu'l-Aḥbār (The Mirror of Epochs and the Staircase of Historical Reports), the book shows how Lārī used historiography to navigate shifting imperial landscapes.

Written in Persian and completed upon the accession of Sultan Selīm II, the chronicle offers a critical view of the Safavids, a reverent account of the Timurid legacy, and a carefully constructed narrative of Ottoman rule. Through close textual analysis, the study demonstrates how Lārī positioned himself as both cultural mediator and political commentator, using universal history to engage debates about legitimacy, identity, and intellectual authority in the early modern Islamic world.
