

Job ID: ACDH-CH135STUD223

The Linguistics Department at the Austrian Centre for Digital Humanities and Cultural Heritage (ACDH-CH) of the Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW), Austria's leading non-university research and science institution, is offering two

STUDENT ASSISTANT POSITIONS (F/M/X)

(part-time, 10h per week)

starting on January 01st, 2024, for a period of 6 months. Both student assistants will engage in the project "Vienna – different and multi.lingual: A sociolinguistic survey of language competencies, usage, and attitudes of people in Vienna" that is financed by the City of Vienna (MA7). It aims at investigating the multilingualism of people living and/or working/studying in Vienna via an online questionnaire in order to make them visible.

Your tasks:

- Support in the development of concepts for the acquisition of informants that are oriented towards the target audiences and culturally sensitive
- (administrative) Support in the creation, translation, and distribution of the questionnaire
- Support in the planned direct acquisition of informants with simultaneous documentation of Vienna's linguistic landscape
- Participation in project-specific presentations and publications

Your profile:

- Ongoing master's or diploma studies in one of the following subjects: philological and cultural studies, social sciences
- Interest in sociolinguistics
- First experience with empirical research in your field
- Good command of German and English as well as good command of at least one further language relevant for multilingualism in Vienna (e.g., Arabic, Farsi/Dari, Turkish, Rumanian, Chechen, Slavic languages, ...)
- Flexibility, creativity, independence while enjoying productive teamwork

Advantages:

- Familiarity with the organisation of a community in Vienna that (also) defines itself via the usage of another language than German
- Willingness to enrich the project work with that knowledge

Our offers:

- Possibility to contribute to an innovative and socio-politically relevant scientific project
- Integration into an international and inclusive research department
- Flexible, family-friendly working times
- Attractive workplace in the heart of Vienna
- Easy-going communication culture and open-door policy

The monthly gross salary for this position is € 595,99, according to the collective agreement of the Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW).

Please send your application including all relevant documents (letter of motivation, CV, relevant certificates and references) in German or English via e-mail to agnes.kim@oeaw.ac.at (mentioning Job ID: ACDH-CH135STUD223) no later than November 22nd, 2023.

The Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW) pursues a non-discriminatory employment policy and values equal opportunities, as well as diversity. Individuals from underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply.